Sermon Discussion Questions: 2 Kings 5:1-14

- 1) For many of us, the idea of success - whether that be socially, financially, vocationally - is very attractive. What are some of the promises that success makes to us?
- 2) In what ways do you battle the pull to self-reliance, either in wanting or feeling the need to be self-reliant? What is the danger of self-reliance?
- 3) Many have described that the growth trajectory of the Christian life is growth downwards into deeper dependence. What is hard about this?
What is potentially freeing?
- 4) What does deeper dependence look like practically? How can we as individuals and as communities help each other cultivate that dependence?
- 5) What are some things we learn about God from this passage? How might these things help us this coming week?
