Sermon Discussion Questions: Matthew 21:1-17

What are your takeaways from the sermon and scripture passage?

What are ways in which you think our culture does not see Jesus very clearly?

Can you name a time in your life when you have gotten more clarity on who God is and how he is at work? What happened?

Here, the crowds don't see that Jesus is not a political savior and the religious leaders don't see that he's not there to defend the religious status quo. How do you see the gospel challenging us in the ways that we think about power in the realm of politics and religion?

In his ministry, Jesus is always on a journey to the cross, and when he calls us to himself he calls us to take up a cross and go on a similar journey. What are some ways in which you are discerning him calling you on that cross-shaped journey?
