What Faith Looks Like

Passage: Romans 1:8-15

1. Can you think of a particular time in which your own faith was strengthened/encouraged by the faith of someone else? What was particularly encouraging about it?

2. What is your reaction to the idea that God has an active role in the church for you to play in terms of encouraging others? How does the idea of intentionally going to others to express thankfulness and encouragement sit with you?

3. What are a couple of specific ways you could seek to be an encouragement to somebody else this week?

4. In this passage, Paul describes himself as being under obligation to others who don't yet know Jesus. Have you thought of yourself in this way; why or why not? How might it change the way you approach interactions with neighbors to adopt this mindset?
